MAYSVILLE HAS REPUTATION AS CONVENTION CITY

Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows Comes to Maysville For Next Meeting Without Pressure From Local People.

Maysville will have the honor of entertaining the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of the state of Kentucky during 1921 and the honor comes to this city unsolicited. No effort was made to bring the Grand Lodge here by either the local lodges or local commercial organizations. In fact, it was quite a surprise when Maysville was presented to the meeting at Lexington yesterday.

Lexington was making a strong bid for the annual meeting again next year when Hon. M. M. Logan, former Attorney General of Kentucky, in a speech praising Maysville as one of the best convention cities in the state, presented the name of our town. After many of the leaders in the Grand Lodge had endorsed Maysville in addresses, Lexington withdrew and Maysville was selected unanimously.

The Grand Lodge will bring to Maysville about one thousand men for a three day stay. The expenses of these thousand delegates are defrayed by the lodges of which they are representatives and the coming of this convention will bring to Maysville several thousand dollars.

The local Oddfellows lodges will immediately name committees to make arrangements for the convention which will open on the night of the second Monday in November and continue through Wednesday. The sessions will probably be held in the court house.

GOOD MORNING, JUDGE, HAS THREE TITLES

Monday's Musical Comedy Has Been Successful Under Three Titles In America and Europe.

One of the many odd features of "Good Morning, Judge!" which is scheduled for presentation at Washington Theater on Monday night is found in the fact that its original production in farce comedy form changed the history of the English speaking stage. It was written by an obscure English actor, A. W. Pinero, and played under the name of "The Magistrate." Its success was so pronounced that it was soon played wherever the English language is spoken, a new school of dramatic writing sprang into being. Pinero was lured from the stage to the field of letters to become one of the most prolific and popular playwrights in the world and to amass fame and fortune. Yes, the subject of these lines is Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, and he is deriving handsome royalties today from the musical comedy version of "The Magistrate" now known as "Good Morning, Judge." Shep Camp will be seen in the role of the heavyweight judge, supported by a distinguished cast of metropolitan musical comedy favorites. A massive and elaborate production has been provided.

TERMINALS PLANNED BY SEVERAL RIVER CITIES FOR FUTURE

Louisville, Portsmouth, Evansville and Others Plan Great Terminals To Handle Business Coming With River Revival.

That several Ohio River cities are planning great river terminals to handle the heavy traffic on the Ohio coming with the expected revival of steamboating, was disclosed yesterday at the meeting of the Ohio Valley Waterways Association which is in session at Paducah.

Frank M. Baggs, of Portsmouth, detailed the preparations which Portsmouth is already making for the movement of heavy articles by water. He represents the Chamber of Commerce of that up-river city, and declared to the delegates to the convention that the Whitaker Glassess Company already had plans drawn and are ready to let contracts for a terminal at Portsmouth that will cost $1,000,000.

This company will move iron and steel products between its plant there and others which they have at Wheeling and Steubenville. The Breece Manufacturing Company of the same place are prepared to put in terminals to cost $250,000, which will be used in the movement of lumber from their timber lands in Arkansas and in moving paving brick to the South.

Louisville Aldermen, who were here, declared that they have been able to get $125,000 in contingent funds which would have been used for terminal purposes, but had to be withdrawn for other purposes.

"This year, however," one of them said, "the appropriation will be made for the specific purpose of a river terminal and that is the purpose for which it will be used."

Evansville also reported that plans are afoot there for the building of docks that will be more than self-sustaining, and, according to J. H. Rohsenberger, should yield the city a profit.

All of which should indicate that the day of dreaming dreams of revival of river traffic is about at an end and that plans that have been talked about will soon have to come into being, or the traffic that has been promised the Queen City will go floating by her front gate unless there is adequate dockage created to care for it.

As if to add emphasis to this came a statement this morning by Colonel Earl I. Brown, in charge of the Cincinnati division of the government engineering work. The Colonel is the biggest "inland skipper" in the world. He has charge of a half dozen fleets belonging to the government that operate between Pittsburgh and Cairo.

He announced to the delegates of the convention that the government was ready to participate and help along, if need be, the often spoken of revival. He said that he had talked a proposition over with General Lansing Beach by which it would be possible to lease or charter to men in the business of river hauling the boats of this fleet during the "slack months."

MAYSICK COLORED PEOPLE ORGANIZE CORPORATION

Booster of New Colored Consolidated School at Mayslick Organize Themselves Into a Corporation.

For the past couple of years a number of progressive colored citizens of the Mayslick neighborhood have been interesting themselves in a first class colored school for that community and they are now about to realize their goal.

Articles of incorporation of the Mayslick Health and Welfare Company were filed with County Clerk James Owens yesterday. The incorporators are James Hicks, W. A. Taylor, Eli Holden, J. W. Story and Vernon Holtz. The capital stock of the new corporation is fixed at $4,000 and the limit of their liability is fixed at $10,000.

The purpose and nature of the business to be transacted as set out in the charter shall be to construct school buildings, store houses, dwellings and other edifices and to hold real estate in this connection and to sell, mortgage or lease its holdings in furtherance of its said business.

These colored people deserve credit for their interest in educating their young and should be encouraged.

LIBERTY WAREHOUSE IS BUSIEST PLACE IN MAYSVILLE NOW

Booth Owners Are Very Busy Getting Their Stalls in Condition for Grand Opening of Corn and Tobacco Fair on Next Tuesday.

The Liberty Tobacco Warehouse at Third and Commerce streets is about the busiest place in the city of Maysville just now. The majority of the sixty booth owners for the big Corn and Tobacco Fair are busy getting their stalls decorated attractively and everything in readiness for the grand opening of the big fair on Tuesday.

Governor Edwin P. Morrow has assured the managers of the fair that he will not disappoint them on Tuesday and that he will start the fair off properly at the appointed time.

Demands for more booth space has been very strong yesterday and today, Secretary George Kirk stated today that he could easily have sold twenty more booths this morning and yesterday afternoon if there had been space for them in the building. Every inch of available space has been sold and every indication is that this year's fair will far eclipse any even of the past.

Inquiries about entries indicate that there will be much corn and tobacco many fowls and much cattle entered on Monday and Tuesday morning and all preparations for the handling of

YOUNG MAN HELD ON CHARGE OF FORGERY

Bank Clerk Recognizes Offered Check As Forgery and Calls Officers—Examination To Be Held Friday.

Thomas Wyatt, of the Helena neighborhood, presented a check at the State National Bank Wednesday drawn on Mr. Andy Bierlin, prominent farmer of the county, for $77.50 and made payable to Sam Hurley. Wyatt represented himself to be Hurley and asked payment of the check.

Mr. Douglas Newell, who was at the paying teller's window, saw at once that the check was a forgery, he being quite familiar with Mr. Bierlin's signature. He told the young man, however, to wait until he saw if there was enough to Mr. Bierlin's credit to pay the check. Instead of investigating the books, Mr. Newell notified the officers and Sheriff Galbreath placed the young man in jail.

An examining trial will be held before "Squire" Fred W. Bauer Friday afternoon, young Wyatt being charged with forgery.

everything entered have now been made.

While reports are to the effect that every day will find the Liberty crowded to its limits during fall week, there is yet left time to boost and everyone interested in the success of the fair, and that should be every citizen of Mason county, should boost the big meeting at every possible opportunity.

OHIO JUDGE IS SLAIN BY HIS SON, WHO SURRENDERS

Body of Ohio Jurist Lay at His Home for an Entire Day Before Officials Are Notified of Patricide—Son Surrenders.

Newark, Ohio, Nov. 18. — Angus Irvine, 31, held as the slayer of his father, Walter A. Irvine, 55, former probate judge of Licking county, was to be arraigned here today on a first-degree murder charge.

Young Irvine, a cripple, surrendered to police here last night on his return from Columbus, where he had fled after the killing.

No word of the murder, which occurred shortly after 7 p. m. Tuesday at the Irvine home, five miles northeast of Newark, reached here until late Wednesday, when Sheriff Bryan was summoned by William Oatman, neighbor of the Irvines.

Oatman had been informed of the tragedy, he said, by two of the Irvine children, Sarah, 13, and Archibald, 8. Early Tuesday, according to the story the children told, Angus, who had not been living at home, appeared at the Irvine residence. He remained there, they said, throughout the day, hiding in a darkened room when his father came home early in the evening.
